1. Context

- 1.1 UCQ's mission is to enable all students with whom we work, to achieve their full potential. Information, advice and guidance (IAG) encompasses a range of impartial guidance activities and processes that can support choices made by learners and ensure their career development. Key elements of which are defined as follows:
- 1.2 Information within the context of the IAG service means the provision of information on learning and work (before any discussion about options) through:
  - UCQ website and other signposted websites
  - printed material such as leaflets and Study Guides
  - audio-visual materials such as videos
  - verbal information to the student
- 1.3 Advice requires more interaction with the learner, usually on a one to one basis face to face or over the telephone. It may require explanation of some of the information provided, how to access and use information, and a recognition of when more in-depth services may be required by the learner.
- 1.4 Guidance is more in-depth activity conducted by a trained member of staff, helping applicants and students to explore a range of options, to relate information to their own needs and circumstances to make decisions about their career development (i.e. their progression in learning and work).
- 1.5 UCQ is accredited to the matrix Standard for information advice and guidance and is committed to provide high quality IAG to applicants and students, and to focus on continuous improvement of our services.
- 1.6. Clear principles are set out in our Applicant Policy (GP-022) in terms of what applicants and students can expect from UCQ. This commitment is to be fair and objective, providing accessible, correct and relevant information and advice confidentially.

2. Student Journey

- 2.1 We strive to place the learner at the heart of everything we do, with the overall objective to equip learners with the knowledge, skills and behaviours for productive and sustainable employment.
- 2.2. Providing the highest quality of Information, Advice and Guidance is an integral step in successful achievement and progression for learners. Good information, advice and guidance is provided through our Business Development and Engagement Team and through tutors to ensure that students are enrolled onto the right programme to meet their needs. Good information, advice and guidance is also provided to employers through our Business Development Team to help employers create a workforce development plan tailored to their business needs. High quality and flexible support is provided to students throughout their programme by their Tutor or Professional Development Adviser, to ensure that they achieve, and at exit to enable them to progress with their learning and career development.
