4. Introduction to programme

4.1 Programme Approval

4.1.1 This programme has been developed by Awarding Organisations, including the Chartered Management Institute (CMI) and Highfield, and forms part of the apprenticeship programme. Apprenticeship standards are developed by the Institute of Apprenticeships and Technical Education (IfATE), and will be delivered by UCQ.

4.2 Apprenticeship Standard

4.2.1 The programme is delivered as part of the apprenticeship standard. Please refer to the programme specification which provides an overview of the programme, units, assessment and delivery.

4.2.2 As part of the apprenticeship programme, there is a requirement to undertake maths and/or English, where this has not previously been achieved.

4.2.3 Level 2 apprenticeships, require maths and/or English at Level 1

4.2.4 Level 3+ apprenticeships, require maths and/or English at Level 2

4.2.5 For apprenticeship programmes of Level 2 to Level 5, UCQ will support you to achieve your maths/English. For Level 7 programmes, there is a requirement to hold maths and/or English at enrolment.

4.3 Attendance requirements

4.3.1 These attendance requirements outline UCQ's position and expectations with regards to the attendance and punctuality for all students of UCQ. Students are considered active participants in their learning experiences and must take responsibility for achieving their potential through successful completion of each stage of their programme. Attendance is a key component in student retention, progression, achievement and employability. Those students who actively participate in their learning are more likely to enjoy a rewarding experience in which knowledge, skills, behaviours and abilities are developed. This includes scheduled lectures, workshops, tutorials and assessor sessions.

4.3.2 For each apprenticeship, the minimum working hours, including time spent on 'off the job' learning, is 30 hours per week. 'On the job' guided learning hours (GLH) may include time spent being guided by a mentor or supervisor whilst undertaking normal activities as part of the job role. These activities should provide opportunities to learn, develop and practice skills. Possible 'off the job' activities may include; individual and group teaching, coaching, distance learning, e-learning, learning support and time spent writing assessments/assignments, guided study, learning with peers or collaborative learning and mentoring. You can undertake an apprenticeship programme if you work less than 30 hours but your programme will be lengthened to ensure you receive appropriate support to develop new knowledge, skills and behaviours.

4.3.3 Expectations of the student

- The student is expected to punctually attend a minimum of 80% of all scheduled sessions and activities of their programme and to maintain regular academic contact with their lecturer and assessor.
- If a student is unable to attend a scheduled lecture, they must email the required module lead explaining the circumstances.
- If a student is unable to attend a scheduled session they must email their assessor to let them know
- The employer must make the student available to attend all formal assessments at the time given. Failure to attend an assessment or submit coursework by the deadline without having obtained an extension may result in failure of the module concerned.
- If a student is having difficulties attending sessions due to a personal, financial or academic issue, the student should not hesitate to talk to their relevant support staff.
- The student is expected to engage in all programme activities, including action plans that have been implemented to support them to catch up where needed
- In order to enhance the learner experience, students are expected to ‘lean in and learn’ during their online lectures/tutorials. There is a requirement to access sessions from a quiet environment with limited disruption; students should have the appropriate equipment including webcam, headphones and microphones and all cameras are required to be operational for the duration of the session/group activity.

4.3.4 Unsatisfactory attendance or engagement

Where a student’s attendance or engagement is unsatisfactory, one or more of the following actions may be taken:

- Students may be invited to discuss with the delivery staff how their attendance will be improved and any support that may be required.
- Students may be issued with a formal written warning about their attendance signed by the Principal/Vice Principal.
- A formal report on a student’s attendance may be made to the student’s employer.
- Students who fail to respond to a warning about their attendance may be required to enter a formal Attendance Agreement with UCQ.
- Students may be withdrawn from their course if they fail to respond to a warning or breach the terms of their Attendance Agreement.

4.4 Your professional development

- 4.4.1 Employee training benefits the business and the employee to develop themselves personally and professionally. Industry and the marketplace is ever evolving so it is important for you to be able to develop new skills that will not only contribute to the business but will also play a major factor in increasing your self-esteem and motivation. Knowing your skills are current and up-to-date means you’ll be at the forefront of your company’s development and you will benefit from a greater variety of work. Workplace qualifications play a crucial role in enabling you to stay ahead of your professional peers, to create better prospects and improve the chances of promotion whilst having a positive impact on your career. Training provides employees with an incentive to learn. With regular training, both you and your employer are able to identify any skills gaps, and by implementing a strategy where you’re able to address these at your own pace, your sense of job satisfaction will be improved almost immediately.

Where applicable, they can also provide information regarding examinations or assessment.

5.4.1 Student Representatives are students who advocate the views of their peers in their current programme of study. If you would be interested in becoming a student representative, please speak to your assessor.

5.5 Study skills

5.5.1 Time Management

Having good time management skills can help you take charge of your studies and manage your learning more effectively. Your lecturer and assessor are there to guide you but they cannot manage the work for you. You need to be organised and prepared. Ensure you read material in advance so that you can prepare any questions you may have. Utilise the time you have with your lecturer and assessor to ask questions or seek clarification on a subject-specific matter.

5.5.2 Communication

An important element in the success of any group work activity is effective communication. Communication is a two-way process; you have to receive information as well as transmit a message. This means listening, understanding and thinking about what people are trying to tell you. Communicating effectively involves active listening, giving others time to speak, being aware of your body language, being polite and adaptable, showing empathy and respect, letting people know what you think and explaining your thoughts, being encouraging and understanding and finally, having some fun.

Some barriers to effective communication may include, physical disruption or distraction (noisy, busy environment), time restraints, geographical barriers, mental attitude, body language or poor feedback. When discussing an issue try to focus on the behavior rather than the person. Outline the problem and discuss why it is an issue and what needs to change. Give the individual time to respond and reiterate common goals and the need to move forward. Lastly, ensure you remain calm and focus on the team and the key outcomes your team wishes to achieve.

5.5.3 Note making

Making notes can act as a summary or reinforcement of the main points you have read, heard or seen. They are an aid to memory and, as they are in your own words, may help you remember the subject better, particularly in preparation for assignments or quizzes. Note writing can also help you to overcome distraction and can encourage you to become a more active, rather than passive, student. The best method for taking or making notes is the one that works best for you. You may choose to use linear notes, where you summarise using full or part sentences on the main points you have heard or read. Alternatively, you may choose to make visual or pattern notes, where notes are presented in a visual, connected way, showing linkages and relationships between elements (e.g. fishbone diagram, concept mapping or mind maps). Another method of note making is voice notes, this utilises a voice-recorder to summarise key ideas or themes from what you have read.

5.5.4 Returning to study

Returning to any form of education after a lengthy break can be daunting. UCQ have a range of support staff available to help and guide new or returning students through this process. Author Colin Rose (2000) makes note in his book 'Master it Faster' six stages of becoming an effective student; Motivation, Acquire, Search, Trigger, Examine and Reflect. In order to learn effectively and make the most out of your learning journey you firstly need to have the motivation to learn. If you lack belief in your own abilities or cannot see the point of what you are learning, you will struggle throughout the programme. You also need to acquire the relevant information and plan your time to search for and read the information you require for your studies. The third stage is search, referring to the search for personal meaning in what you read. A good way to do this is by asking yourself how you can use the idea you are reading and how it connects with your life and experiences. Another key stage is triggering your memory to remember key points and ideas. You can achieve this through note making as discussed above. You should also examine what you know and test your knowledge at regular intervals to help reinforce in your mind what you have learned. Lastly, you should reflect on your learning. Reflect on how you have learned, how you felt about a particular topic or situation. Learn from your mistakes and stay positive.

5.5.5 Further information

For Management programmes, you can obtain further useful study guides on assignment writing, references and citations, critical thinking, learning styles, managing stress, speed reading, time management, the SQ3R study system and avoiding plagiarism on the CMI Management Direct online resource.

UCQ's Academic Support Tutor also provides a range of online workshops to support writing, referencing and citation, critical thinking and literature review writing. Functional skills development and support is also provided, as required.

5.6 Careers advice

5.6.1 The National Careers Service can help you with your career, learning and training choices. This free service provides high quality and impartial careers advice, information and guidance.

5.6.2 During your apprenticeship programme you will work closely with your employer and our delivery staff to develop your skills and pave a career pathway within your organisation. UCQ is committed to supporting you and would be happy to discuss with you how your programme of study can assist you within your management career. With honest, open discussions with your employer, and armed with your new skills, knowledge and behaviours, we are confident you will develop greater self-awareness, self-confidence and have the skills and knowledge necessary to meet the challenges of an ever-changing business world. We encourage you to speak with your assessor if you would like to discuss this further.

5.7 Counselling and welfare

5.7.1 Students may seek counselling for all sorts of reasons. They might be worried, suffering from anxiety, feel depressed, confused or generally feeling negative about themselves and their future. There might be a problem in their family or friendships or have experienced bereavement. All of these issues can cause an impact on a student's ability to focus and remain motivated on their studies and inhibit them from enjoying their programme of study to the full. Talking about what is on your mind can help you understand and discover more about yourself. Counselling can assist with finding alternative ways of moving forward in life.

- 5.7.2 At UCQ, we offer a confidential non-judgmental space where you can talk about any emotional and psychological problems which may be affecting your ability to work or study. You can expect the counsellor to respect you and not impose opinions on you. The aim of counselling is to help you find your own answers and to become more in charge of your life. A first meeting with UCQ's counsellor is used as an opportunity to discuss whether continued counselling would be appropriate for your needs. It is without obligation on either side. You can use this meeting to ask any questions you wish so as to satisfy yourself that you feel comfortable in progressing forward with the counselling sessions.
- 5.7.3 If you feel that you would benefit from this type of support you can either contact UCQ's main office on 0191 275 5015 or speak with your Professional Development Assessor.
- 5.7.4 The Student Welfare Policy (SA-016) provides further information about UCQ's student welfare arrangements.
- 5.7.5 UCQ have a range of support available on the website at ucq.ac.uk/support-links

5.8.8 If you believe another student is being bullied or harassed please speak to your assessor as soon as possible.

5.9 Mental health

5.9.1 One in four of us will experience mental ill health at some point in our lives. It is therefore important that everyone take steps to promote positive mental health and support those experiencing mental health issues.

5.9.2 Mental health includes our emotional, psychological, and social well-being. It affects how we think, feel, and act. It also helps determine how we handle stress, relate to others, and make choices.

5.9.3 Most people's mental health will not just be continuously good. Usually it will rise and fall depending on pressures and/or experiences in their life. A person may therefore feel in good mental health generally but also experience stress or anxiety from time to time.

6. Personal development planning

- 6.1 Personal development planning (PDP) is a process of reflecting on achievement and learning to capitalise on strengths, identify and address areas for development, set goals, identify skills and record reflections. The purpose of this process is to encourage students to learn to develop themselves and plan for the future by becoming more self-aware. Engaging in PDP activities can assist students to become more motivated, take greater interest in their learning journey, become more self-aware and recognise their full potential.
- 6.2 PDP is embedded in a number of activities within every apprenticeship programme. One primary example is the use of progress reviews. Your assessor will undertake a progress review with you every 8 to 12 weeks. This gives an opportunity for student, employer and delivery staff to reflect on the student's progress, identify areas for improvement and set short, medium and long term goals.
- 6.3 PDP is also embedded in your assessment tasks, for example through reflective reviews that enable you to reflect on what you have learnt and how this may be applied within your workplace. Time with your Professional Development Assessor/Assessor also provides you a good opportunity to undertake PDP.

7. Facilities and services

- 7.1 UCQ offers access to a range of learning resources. Where applicable, you will also have an e-portfolio, in Ecordia, which will hold learning resources and copies of policies and procedures. ICT resources are readily available within UCQ and can be used during class-based contact sessions. As the programme is delivered through work-based learning, the majority of learning will occur at your place of work, with any 'off the job' learning taking place on-site in an appropriate training room or within UCQ's own training facilities. Students are also welcome to utilise UCQ's study areas for individual study or group work.
- 7.2 Should you require any technical support or help during your time on programme you can contact our IT Manager Monday to Friday 9am-5pm on 0191 275 5015 or email guy.parkin@ucq.ac.uk.

8. Assessment and progression regulations

8.1 Assessment principles

- 8.1.1 The Programme Specifications and Assessment Briefs contain comprehensive details of the assessment and information on each unit.
- 8.1.2 Units will follow a standard structure and outline learning outcomes and assessment methods and evidence required to meet the apprenticeship standard.

8.2 Submission of assessments

- 8.2.1 Where applicable, assessments will either be submitted via Turnitin and/or uploaded to Ecordia. Your assessor or lecturer will give you more information.

8.3 Minimum pass marks for units (where applicable)

- 8.3.1 Where a qualification is included within the apprenticeship pathway, all units are mandatory and require a minimum pass mark. Should there be a non-submission this will receive an automatic 0% mark.
- 8.3.2 Details of all elements of assessment, including type, weighting and timings for each module can be found in the individual Programme Specification.
- 8.3.3 Assessment feedback and the recommended mark will be returned to students upon completion of marking and moderation. Students should refer to the Assignment Submission and Feedback Policy for further detail on feedback timeframes.

8.4 Word count (where applicable)

- 8.4.1 Where a qualification is included within the apprenticeship pathway and requires a maximum word count, this includes everything in the main body of the text (including main- and sub-headings, tables, citations, quotes, lists, etc). The contents page, list of references/bibliography, appendices, footnotes and end notes are NOT included in the word count unless it is clearly stated in the Assessment Brief that the unit is an exception to this rule.
- 8.4.2 Appendices should be kept to a minimum and only contain reference materials illustrating and supporting arguments fully made in the main body of the work. Any other materials included in appendices, except where specifically requested in the Assessment Brief, will not be marked.
- 8.4.3 Where academic work is required, you must use Harvard Referencing within your reference section.
- 8.4.4 Word limits are set for each piece of marked and graded assessment work and detailed in the Assessment Briefs. These restrictions are in place to maintain equity between students completing the same assessment and to encourage succinct and clear writing. The following penalties apply for exceeding the specified word limit:
- Up to 10% over or under the specified limit will not incur a penalty
 - Between 10-20% over or under the specified limit will incur a deduction of 5 marks off the final mark
 - 20% or more over or under the specified limit will incur a maximum graded score of 40%

8.5 Rules governing extension to submission deadlines (where applicable)

- 8.5.1 Work submitted for a summative assessment component cannot be amended after submission or re-submitted. Students requesting an extension to a submission deadline should do so by following the extenuating circumstances procedure.

8.6 Penalties for late submission or non-submission of work (where applicable)

8.6.1 Submission that is late by 7 or more working days is refused and will incur a mark of 0.

8.7 Assessment of work-based learning

8.7.1 The apprenticeship programme is work-based and as such creates a new dimension to the traditionally class-based university degrees. Work-based learning brings a new depth to the learning experience with that which is taught being applied directly to a real-life situation and ultimately embedded in the student's mind in a more significant way.

8.7.2 The assessment of work-based learning may mean that two students have different learning experiences, however, achieve the same learning outcomes. The assessment is explicitly aligned with student learning, is clear and equitable and enables students to demonstrate the achievement of the learning outcomes.

8.7.3 The assessment of work-based learning varies and may include reflections, portfolios of evidence, presentations, videos of practice behaviour, a project, case studies or research projects. Please refer to your Programme Specifications for your specific course for details on how you will be assessed throughout your programme. Your assessor will support you throughout the work-based elements of the programme. All of your work should be uploaded into UCQ's e-portfolio system Ecordia.

8.8 Assessment of presentations

8.8.1 Presentations and oral examinations refer to forms of assessment which are given to an audience of peers and/or teaching staff. Presenting to an audience requires substantially different skills from writing an essay and the communication involved can sometimes be much more relevant to the professional competencies needed in a real working situation.

8.8.2 There are many advantages to undertaking a presentation, for example, given the nature of a presentation students usually ensure significant prior research and preparation has been undertaken which results in a deeper learning experience. Presentations can also allow the assessment of a wide range of key skills, including, oral communication, the ability to plan and structure material and if applicable, working as a team. They may also facilitate the use of information and communication technology. Presentations will be recorded to allow appropriate moderation of assessments.

8.8.3 For the specific marking criteria applicable to your programme please refer to your individual Assessment Brief.

8.9 Academic misconduct

8.9.1 Academic misconduct refers to instances when a student does not follow published academic procedure and assessment protocols or attempts to gain an unfair advantage by breaking regulations.

8.9.2 All allegations of academic misconduct will be investigated in accordance with the Academic Misconduct Policy.

8.9.3 Types of Academic Misconduct

Plagiarism

Plagiarism can take a number of forms; complete plagiarism, partial plagiarism, self-plagiarism or collusion.

Falsifying data refers to when a person presents data in a report, project or dissertation based on claimed experimental work which has, in fact, been invented or obtained by unfair means.

Impersonation

Dishonest practice

Dishonest practices undertaken by a student may include actual or attempted bribery, making false declarations to deceive staff, procuring another person's work or submitting work which has been completed, altered, translated or corrected by another person as if it was the student's own work.

Breaches in confidentiality and/or unethical practice in coursework

This form of academic misconduct refers to when a student does not follow confidentiality and/or anonymity protocols, including: the direct naming of an individual or organisation where local protocols prohibit this, the inclusion of documentation that links to privileged information or the provision of information that could lead to the identification of an individual or organisation where this information is privileged.

8.9.4 Penalties for academic plagiarism (where applicable)

8.10 Student progress reviews

- 8.10.1 Delivery staff and your assessor will provide regular feedback and support throughout the programme. Feedback assists students in monitoring their progress, identifying areas of strength and weakness and developing their understanding of the subject to enhance a range of skills.
- 8.10.2 Your assessor will undertake a review which will discuss your progress following the completion of each module, identify any areas for additional support and set short, medium and long term goals.
- 8.10.3 Progress reviews take a number of forms:
- Informal review with the assessor
 - Employer review (completed between your assessor and employer every 8-12 weeks)

8.10.4 Feedback from all reviews will then be provided during a tutorial with your assessor. Both written and verbal feedback will be provided within agreed timescales to allow the student to receive the most benefit from the feedback given.

8.11 Formative and summative assessments

8.11.1 Types of assessment:

- Summative assessment evaluates the extent to which students have achieved the desired learning outcomes of their programme, or part of their programme, in order to record that achievement for the award of credit and to recognise student achievement.
- Formative assessment provides opportunities for students to receive feedback on their learning so they can improve.
- Diagnostic assessment provides an indicator of a student's aptitude for a programme of study and to identify possible learning problems.

Summative assessment must reflect programme content and be valid, reliable and fair to be effective.

8.11.2 Assessment design

- The method of assessment will be appropriate to the curriculum and the achievement of the learning outcomes
- Assessment will be designed to encourage learning; to provide a range of learning opportunities to students; and to meet the diverse needs of students
- Multiple assessment methods will be used to counter possible bias associated with individual methods and should be consistent with learning and teaching practice
- Assessment tasks will be designed with due regard for security to limit or prevent fraudulent activity
- Assessment criteria will be aligned to learning outcomes
- Each module will be assessed independently
- Assessment of students with a disability shall be in accordance with UCQ's Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Policy
- Assessment tasks will be clearly stated in the Assessment Brief.

8.11.3 Marking, grading and internal moderation

- Assessment marking and grading schemes will be consistent and rigorous assessment practice and grading will be criteria based
- All summative assessment will be subject to the application of appropriate internal moderation procedures

8.11.4 Supporting student learning

In order for students to be fully engaged with assessment and its value to them in the learning process they need to understand fully the assessment criteria involved. Clarity and student understanding of assessment criteria and tasks will be facilitated by providing students with the following information at the start of each module/commencement of the course, as appropriate:

- The unit overview and rationale
- The learning outcomes associated with each unit
- Pre-requisites where applicable
- Assessment strategies and marking criteria
- Key and further reading suggestions

8.12 Acceptable forms of academic referencing (where applicable)

8.12.1 Throughout higher education programmes, students will be asked to use the Harvard referencing system. As a student, it is important when you are using the words or ideas of another source that these are acknowledged through a referencing system. Using this system allows the reader to understand where you have used information that is not your own. Failure to do this properly may mislead readers to believe that what has been written is your own words or ideas. This is considered plagiarism and is considered a very serious offence. You should always reference direct quotations, paraphrasing and the ideas of other authors.

8.12.2 Collecting information

Students should make notes of the sources they use so that referencing later on is as accurate as possible. For books, you should make note of:

- The author's or editor's name (or names)
- The year the book was published
- The title of the book
- If it is an edition
- The city the book was published in
- The name of the publisher

For electronic sources, you should make note of:

- The date you accessed the source
- The electronic address or email
- The type of electronic resource (email, discussion forum, webpage, etc.)

For journal articles, students should collect:

- The author's name or names
- The year in which the journal was published
- The title of the article
- The title of the journal
- The page number/s of the article in the journal
- As much other information as you can find about the journal, e.g. volume and issue numbers

8.12.3 Where Harvard referencing is required, lecturers and assessors will provide examples of how it should be applied,

8.13 Re-sits and repeat of study

8.13.1 Your assessor will give you more information. As appropriate, where a student fails a unit, the following may apply in the first instance:

- Resit – a second attempt of an assessment component within a module, following failure at first attempt.

Retake – a second attempt of all assessment components within a module following failure at the first or resit attempt. Retake of the failed component may require the student to participate in classes to prepare them for the second attempt.

8.15 Appeals (academic and admission)

8.15.1 UCQ staff have a responsibility to give full and active support to a student or applicant by ensuring the appeals procedure for both admissions and academic appeals is known, understood and implemented.

8.15.2 Students should refer to the UCQ policies (AC-001) for appeal guidance.

8.16 Termination of registration

8.16.1 UCQ reserves the right to terminate the registration of any student on academic or disciplinary grounds.

8.16.2 A student's registration may be terminated if the student has:

- (a) committed a serious disciplinary offence under the Student Disciplinary Policy (GP-024);
- (b) be deemed as unfit to study under the Fitness to Study Policy (TLA-019);
- (c) exhausted all opportunities to remedy failure or has made insufficient progress through their programme of study at the required stage;
- (d) formally notified the institution that they wish to discontinue their studies and so discontinue their programme;
- (e) failed to comply with their financial commitment to UCQ (where applicable)

9. Determination of results

9.1 Assessment scores

9.1.1 All apprenticeship programmes containing a CMI qualification will be marked on a percentage scale of 0-100.

% Scale Score	Performance Standard (Level 3 to Level 6)	Performance Standard (Level 7)
90+	Exceptional pass	Outstanding Pass
80-89	Outstanding pass	Excellent Pass
70-79	Excellent pass	Very Good Pass
60-69	Very Good pass	Good Pass
50-59	Good Pass	Pass
40-49	Pass	Fail
0-39	Fail

9.2 Communication of results

9.2.1 Where appropriate, results for all summative assessments will be released on Turnitin or, in some instances, via Ecordia where students will have individual access to their own progression and results. Summative assessment results will be released at the end of module completion in line with the Assignment Submission and Feedback Policy. Students will also receive ongoing feedback on their progression throughout the course through formative assessment, observations, activities and progress reviews.

10. Other institutional policies and procedures

10.6 Sexual Misconduct and Harassment

10.6.1 UCQ do not tolerate sexual misconduct, violence or abuse and are committed to providing a learning environment in which all members of the UCQ community feel safe and are respected.

10.6.2 UCQ are committed to preventing and eliminating all forms of sexual misconduct.

10.6.3 UCQ recognise the significant negative effects that experiencing sexual misconduct can have upon individuals and will support them, as well as supporting those members of the UCQ community (peers, tutors, other staff etc.) to whom such experiences are disclosed.

10.6.4 Harassment (as defined by Section 26 of the Equality Act 2010) includes unwanted behaviour or conduct which has the purpose or effect of violating a person's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment because of, or connected to, one or more of the following protected characteristics:

- i. age
- ii. disability
- iii. gender reassignment
- iv. race
- v. religion or belief
- vi. sex
- vii. sexual orientation
- viii. marriage and civil partnership
- ix. pregnancy and maternity

Under this definition, UCQ understand harassment to include domestic violence and abuse (which can also involve control, coercion, threats), and stalking.

UCQ would also consider harassment to include any incidents of physical violence towards another person(s) on the basis of a protected characteristic, and hate crimes, such as those criminal offences which are perceived by the victim or any other person, to be motivated by hostility or prejudice, based on a person's disability or perceived disability; race or perceived race; or religion or perceived religion; or sexual orientation or perceived sexual orientation or transgender identity or perceived transgender identity.

10.7 Student Disciplinary Procedure

10.7.1 The Student Disciplinary Procedure relates to non-academic misconduct. Academic misconduct, such as plagiarism, is addressed within the Academic Misconduct Policy.

10.7.2 The Principal of UCQ is ultimately responsible for maintaining discipline among students of UCQ, and in this, students can expect the Principal to be assisted by all UCQ staff.

10.7.3 The discharge of this responsibility in respect of managing student conduct is delegated by UCQ's Principal to the UCQ Senior Leadership Team ("the Disciplinary Officers").

10.7.4 The burden of proof of the allegations of misconduct lies with the person or persons alleging the misconduct. The judgement of the allegation/s will be based on a balance of probabilities.

10.7.5 The seriousness of the offence will be considered in assessing the cogency, weight and quality of evidence presented.

10.7.6 UCQ will not investigate anonymous allegations.

10.7.7 The disciplinary procedure has an informal stage and four formal stages. Any stage in the process may be invoked immediately, depending on the nature and severity of the behaviour.

10.7.8 However, it is expected in most cases a progressive, staged approach to student discipline will be implemented.

10.7.9 Before invoking a formal disciplinary process, any member of UCQ staff may use their professional judgement and issue verbal warnings informally. The formal process is to be implemented if the severity of the conduct means that an informal verbal warning is not sufficient.

10.7.10 Please refer to the Student Disciplinary Procedure for further information.

10.8 Complaints Procedure

10.8.1 A complaint is defined as an expression of significant or sustained dissatisfaction where a complainant seeks a specific action to address the issue.

10.8.2 UCQ considers complaints as important feedback and complainants will not suffer any disadvantage as a consequence of lodging a formal complaint. UCQ will seek to act on complaints in a timely manner and do so impartially and objectively.

10.8.3 The procedure for complaints is addressed within the Complaints procedure (AC-002) and is based on the expectation that all reasonable efforts have already been made to deal with the grievance prior to reaching the stage of a formal complaint.

11. Student participation and evaluation

11.1 UCQ consistently collects and analyses feedback from both employers and students. We feel this is an essential part in ensuring our programmes are meeting the needs of our employers and students and continue to remain relevant and innovative. We obtain this important feedback through a mixed use of questionnaires and progress reviews. Student and Mentor feedback is requested at least every 8-12 weeks through our progress reviews and module feedback is sought voluntarily immediately following the completion of each module.

11.2 Student representation

11.2.1 The Student Representative is a student who represents the views of their fellow students. This is a voluntary role and is designed to connect the views of students to those on the Academic Council. The Student Representative is required to liaise between students and academic council members so that issues can be raised and feedback provided.

11.3 Professional organisations

11.3.1 Many careers have professional bodies that represent or regulate the profession. In the business and management sector the Chartered Management Institute (CMI) is a leading and cutting edge professional body committed to the development of leaders and management professionals. As part of management programmes, you will receive an automatic accreditation with the CMI.

12. Programme reading list (where applicable)

An individual reading list is provided within each Programme Specification as appropriate.
